The optimal way to prevent airborne transmission is to use a combination of interventions from across the hierarchy of controls, not just PPE alone. F 0880 Level of Harm - Immediate jeopardy to resident health or safety Residents Affected - Many	*While engineering and administrative controls should be considered first when selecting controls, the use of personal protective equipment (PPE) should also be part of a suite of strategies used to protect personnel. Proper use of respiratory protection by HCP requires a comprehensive program (including medical clearance, training, and fit testing) that complies with OSHA's Respiratory Protection and a high level of HCP involvement and commitment. The program should also include provisions for the cleaning, disinfecting, inspection, repair, and storage of respirators used by HCP on the job according to manufacturer's instructions. Proper storage conditions can maximize shelf life of respirators. The following strategies in this section are traditionally used by some healthcare systems. If not already implemented, these strategies can be considered by healthcare settings in the face of a potential N95 respirator shortage before implementing the contingency strategies that are listed further below. Review of <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/hcp/long-term-care.html>, updated September 2021, Interim Infection Prevention and Control Recommendations to Prevent SARS-CoV-2 Spread in Nursing Homes, accessed 11/9/21 revealed: *Older adults living in congregate settings are at high risk of being affected by respiratory and other pathogens, such as SARS-CoV-2. *A strong infection prevention and control (IPC) program is critical to protect both residents and healthcare personnel (HCP). *Even as nursing homes resume normal practices, they must sustain core IPC practices and remain vigilant for SARS-CoV-2 infection among residents and HCP in order to prevent spread and protect residents and HCP from severe infections, hospitalizations, and death. *Testing: Anyone with even mild symptoms of COVID-19, regardless of vaccination status, should receive a viral test as soon as possible. *Asymptomatic HCP [health care personnel] with a higher-risk exposure and residents with close contact with someone with SARS-CoV-2 infection, regardless of vaccination status, should have a series of two viral tests for SARS-CoV-2 infection. In these situations, testing is recommended immediately (but not earlier than 2 days after the exposure) and, if negative, again 5-7 days after the exposure. Criteria for use of post-exposure prophylaxis are described elsewhere. *Evaluate residents at least daily. *Ask residents to report if they feel feverish or have symptoms consistent with COVID-19 or an acute respiratory infection. *Actively monitor all residents upon admission and at least daily for fever (temperature =100.0 F) and symptoms consistent with COVID-19. Ideally, include an assessment of oxygen saturation via pulse oximetry. If residents have fever or symptoms consistent with COVID-19, implement precautions described in Section: Manage Residents with Suspected or Confirmed SARS-CoV-2 Infection. (continued on next page)

F 0880 Level of Harm - Immediate jeopardy to resident health or safety Residents Affected - Many	*Older adults with SARS-CoV-2 infection may not show common symptoms such as fever or respiratory symptoms. Less common symptoms can include new or worsening malaise, headache, or new dizziness, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, loss of taste or smell. Additionally, more than two temperatures >99.0 F might also be a sign of fever in this population. Identification of these symptoms should prompt isolation and further evaluation for SARS-CoV-2 infection. *Because some of the symptoms are similar, it may be difficult to tell the difference between influenza, COVID-19, and other acute respiratory infections, based on symptoms alone. Consider testing for pathogens other than SARS-CoV-2 and initiating appropriate infection prevention precautions for symptomatic older adults. *A respirator is a personal protective device that is worn on the face, covers at least the nose and mouth, and is used to reduce the wearer's risk of inhaling hazardous airborne particles (including dust particles and infectious agents), gases, or vapors. Respirators are certified by CDC/NIOSH, including those intended for use in healthcare. 26632 B. Based on observation, interview, and policy review, the provider failed to ensure two of two observed RN (F and H) maintained infection control practices during two of two resident dressing changes (1 and 183). Findings include: 1. Observation on 11/15/21 from 9:40 a.m. through 9:56 a.m. of RN F during a dressing change for resident 1 revealed she: *Removed the dressing supplies out of the treatment cart that included: a large amount of gauze 4 X 4's, Maxorb II (alginate dressing), Optifoam Gentle, chux as a barrier, and a small red zippered case with resident 1's name on it. *Placed the other dressings on the overbed table. *Had not sanitized the overbed table or placed a barrier down. The dressings were next to two urinals, one contained urine. *Washed her hands for approximately 10 seconds and put on gloves. *Spread the barrier out on the bed. *Placed the wound cleanser and Aquaphor moisturizing cream on the left top corner of the barrier. *Placed the two packages of dressings and gauze 4 X 4's to the right upper side of the barrier. She moved the wound cleaner to the right upper side of the barrier. *Opened the packages that contained the dressings. *Took her pen out of her pocket and put the date on the dressing and put the pen back in her pocket. *Had resident 1 place his feet with shoes on top of the barrier in the middle. (continued on next page)
